“ I loved my Uncle Joe...I have always remembered him being there as I was growing up...he not only loved me but truly loved Cora when she was very young...I remember him being a amazing uncle and a delicious cook...my last time I spent with Joe was a great night with my dad at Murphys. I know my Uncle Joe knew I loved him and no matter what happened in life he was always my uncle...

“ Joe became a part of our family when he was just a teenager. He wasn't just a brother-in-law, he was my brother. He was a great uncle to my sons, Daniel & Lucas, and helped me out more times than I can count. We always joked that he was my personal handyman, because he could fix anything! He was also a great cook, and an artist. One of my fondest memories of Joe, when he was married to Kelly, was every year, the day after Valentine's Day, he and I always bought each other half-priced candy. Every year for most of my life, the day after Valentines Day, I have thought of him. I pray he finally has peace, and knows just how much he was loved.
